The recruitment process was carried out in a transparent and systematic manner, ensuring that qualified and competent candidates were selected based on their subject expertise, teaching experience, and overall suitability. The interview panel, comprising senior faculty members and the Principal, assessed the applicants thoroughly to ensure the academic standards of the institution are upheld.

Attended for AEDP meeting

Principal Dr. P. Chandra Sekhar and Sri M. Kishore, Lecturer in Commerce, attended the AEDP (Academic and Examination Development Programme) meeting held in Vijayawada. The meeting was organized by the Commissionerate of Collegiate Education (CCE) with the objective of enhancing academic planning and examination reforms across degree colleges. Their participation contributed to discussions on curriculum development, assessment strategies, and quality enhancement measures aimed at improving higher education standards in the state.

Faculty Participated in Training Program on CSP

Faculty members participated in a virtual training program on CSP (Career Skills Program) conducted on the Swarnandhra platform, organized by the Commissionerate of Collegiate Education (CCE). The program aimed to enhance the career readiness and employability skills of students by equipping faculty with the necessary tools and methodologies for effective implementation. Through this training, faculty gained valuable insights into guiding students on communication, resume building, interview skills, and professional behavior, thereby strengthening the overall quality of skill-based education in the institution.

Awareness Program on CSP

Various departments of the college conducted awareness programs on the Community Service Program (CSP) to sensitize students about the significance of social responsibility and community engagement. The sessions aimed to educate students on the objectives, benefits, and activities involved in CSP, such as participating in cleanliness drives, environmental conservation, literacy campaigns, and helping underprivileged communities. Faculty members encouraged students to actively involve themselves in these initiatives to foster empathy, leadership skills, and a sense of civic duty.

Awareness Program on CSP

The Department of Botany conducted an awareness program on the Community Service Program (CSP) to educate students about the importance of serving society through environmental and social initiatives. During the session, faculty members highlighted the role of students in activities such as plantation drives, campus cleanliness, and awareness campaigns on environmental conservation. The program aimed to instill a sense of responsibility and community involvement among students, encouraging them to contribute positively to society through practical engagement in CSP activities.

Awareness Program on CSP

The Departments of Physics and Computer Science jointly conducted an awareness program on the Community Service Program (CSP) to educate students about the value of community involvement and social responsibility. During the session, faculty members explained the objectives of CSP, including promoting civic sense, environmental awareness, and volunteerism among students. They highlighted various activities under CSP such as cleanliness drives, plantation programs, and digital literacy campaigns. The program aimed to motivate students to participate actively in serving the community while developing essential life skills and a sense of social commitment.

Awareness Program on CSP

The Departments of Mathematics and Chemistry conducted an awareness program on the Community Service Program (CSP) to enlighten students about the importance of contributing to societal development. Faculty members from both departments explained the objectives of CSP, highlighted the role of students in community-based activities, and encouraged active participation in initiatives such as environmental protection, public health awareness, and educational support for underprivileged sections. The session aimed to instill a sense of social responsibility among students and was met with positive interest and enthusiasm.

Encouraging Students to participate in Job fest

The college is actively encouraging students to participate in the upcoming Job Fest at Visakha Government Degree College for Women by providing free transport facilities. This initiative aims to support students in exploring various employment opportunities and enhancing their career prospects. By offering transportation, the college ensures that students can attend the event without any logistical challenges, making it easier for them to connect with potential employers, attend interviews, and participate in skill development workshops. This effort reflects the college's commitment to helping students secure meaningful employment opportunities.

Students Participated in Job Fest

Students from the college actively participated in the Job Fest at Visakha Government Degree College for Women. The event provided them with an excellent opportunity to explore various career options, attend interviews, and interact with potential employers from different industries. By showcasing their skills and qualifications, students were able to gain valuable insights into the job market and further their career aspirations. Their participation in the Job Fest was supported by the college, which facilitated free transport to ensure maximum student engagement and attendance.

Annual Stock Verification Report Completed

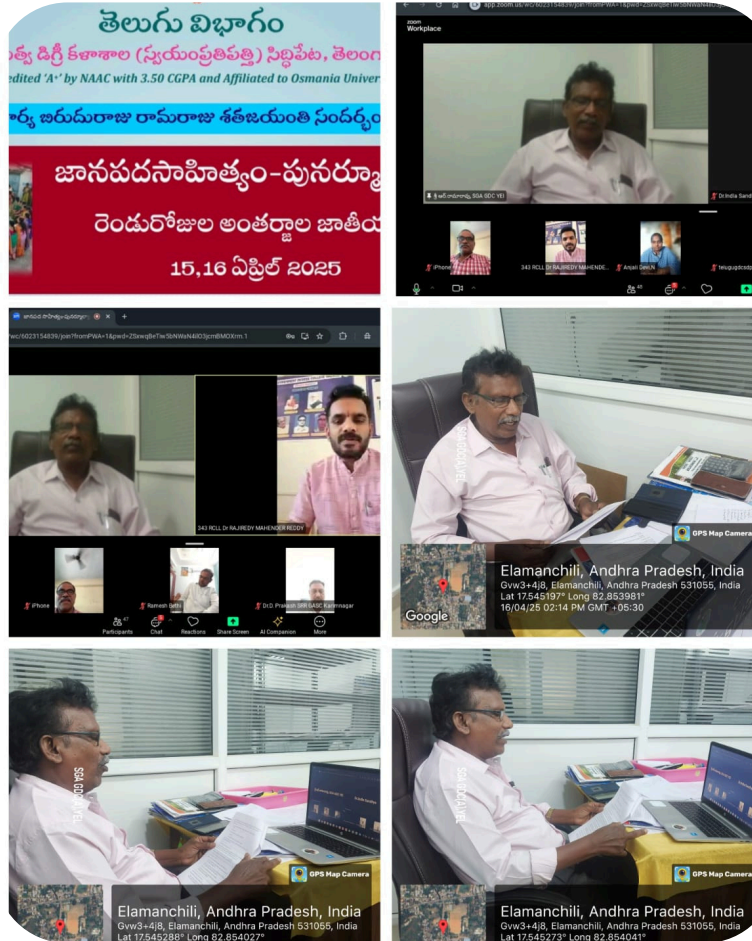

The Annual Stock Verification Report for the Department of Library has been successfully completed. The process involved a thorough audit of all library resources, including books, journals, periodicals, and other materials. Each item was checked for its physical condition, accuracy of records, and proper categorization. Discrepancies, if any, were noted, and necessary actions for replacements or updates have been recommended. The report ensures that the library's inventory is up-to-date and maintains its efficiency in serving students and faculty.

Faculty Presented Research Paper

Sri R. Ramarao, Lecturer in Commerce, presented a research paper during the two-day international seminar organized by Government Degree College Siddipeta. The topic of his presentation was "Janapada Sahityam" (Folk Literature), where he explored the rich cultural and literary traditions of regional folk literature, highlighting its significance in understanding the social and cultural fabric of communities. His paper received appreciation for its depth of research and insightful analysis, contributing to the broader discussions on preserving and promoting indigenous literary forms.

The 2001-2004 batch alumni meeting was held at the college, where former students reunited to reminisce about their time at the institution. As a token of appreciation and to preserve the memories of their time, the alumni contributed a sound system to the college. This thoughtful donation will enhance the college's facilities, especially for events, programs, and functions, ensuring that future generations can benefit from improved sound quality during various activities. The college expressed its heartfelt gratitude to the alumni for their generous contribution and continued support.

Blood Donation Camp at College

Mother Blood Center, in collaboration with the NSS (National Service Scheme), conducted a Blood Donation Camp at the college. The camp aimed to encourage students and staff to contribute to the noble cause of blood donation, supporting the healthcare system and saving lives. The event saw active participation from the college community, with many students and faculty members volunteering to donate blood. The initiative was well-organized, raising awareness about the importance of regular blood donation and the critical role it plays in medical emergencies. The college extended its gratitude to the Mother Blood Center and the NSS volunteers for making the event a success.

Cyber Security Skill Course Completed

The Cyber Security Skill Course has been successfully completed, with students expressing positive feedback about the program. They particularly appreciated the inclusion of real-life examples and hands-on experience, which enhanced their understanding of practical cyber security challenges. The course equipped students with valuable skills in areas such as threat detection, risk management, and ethical hacking. The interactive learning approach was highly praised, and many students felt more confident in applying the knowledge gained to real-world scenarios. Overall, the course proved to be a valuable addition to their skill set, preparing them for future career opportunities in the field of cyber security.

Prize Distribution for Game Design Competition

The Department of Computer Science conducted a Prize Distribution ceremony for the Game Design Competition, recognizing the outstanding achievements of second-year students. The competition encouraged creativity, technical skills, and teamwork, allowing students to showcase their talents in game development. During the ceremony, prizes were awarded to the top performers, highlighting their innovative designs and problem-solving abilities. The event served as both a celebration of the students' hard work and a motivation for others to engage in similar creative endeavors, fostering a spirit of healthy competition and learning within the department.
